Infinity Business Systems Announces Acquisition of RedCase and Mac Service Expertise

Tampa, FL- February 4, 2009- Infinity Business Systems (<http://www.ibsfl.com>), a leading provider of managed IT services and hosted solutions for Small and Medium Businesses, announced today its acquisition of RedCase, a leading Tampa Bay consulting firm specializing in Apple's Macintosh technology. The addition of RedCase's Mac expertise is intended to expand IBS' powerful set of technology solutions in order to maximize its client's value proposition.

RedCase (<http://www.redcasesolutions.com/>) will provide IBS with a strong springboard to capitalize on a growing trend called the 'Mac-Windows blended workplace'. IBS' newly acquired Mac capabilities will provide IBS customers with Mac integration expertise, certified Mac technicians, and support for Mac products and applications. RedCase's 100+ business customer base will be transitioned to IBS.

"We at IBS have a great admiration and respect for RedCase and are extremely pleased to join forces with this outstanding company," says Terry Hedden, CEO of IBS. He continues, "The market presence and composition of our businesses, along with our customer service-oriented cultures, are extraordinarily complementary and this combination creates great potential for IBS' sustained growth and stability. We are now better able to provide solutions on both the Macintosh and Windows platforms, allowing us to help our clients to choose the solution that optimizes their competitive position in the marketplace."

The announcement comes at the heels of IBS' successful completion of the MSP Alliance's Managed Service Provider accreditation as well as the launch of sister company, Infinity Marketing Solutions.

IBS' success can be attributed to its ability to stay at the forefront of cutting-edge technology. From the beginning, IBS has remained innovative, client focused, and results-oriented. Having achieved 40-100% growth each year since its inception in 2003, IBS will continue to uphold its reputation for quality services while maintaining strategic partnerships with all of its clients.
